HELSINKI (Helsingfors), Dec. 2.—Finnish troops today evacuated five Karelian border villages, north of Leningrad, and fell back towards their rear fortifications—the famous Mannerheim line.

FINNS RETAKE ARCTIC PORT OF PETSAMO

Russians Defeated In Battle At Site Of Valuable Nickel Mines

KIRKENES, Norway, Dec. 2.—Civilian refugees arriving here from Finland reported today Finnish troops had retaken the Arctic port of Petsamo.
Finnish authorities were said to have confirmed the reports. Earlier, the city was reported in the hands of Russian forces which retreated to earth from airplanes.
The refugees also declared the Finns had defeated the Russians in a battle 50 miles north of Helsinki, site of valuable mines of the Canadian International Nickel company, just inside the Finnish-Norwegian border.
The Russians were said to have lost 150 dead, whose equipment and clothing indicated the Red troops were poorly prepared for war in the far north. Many apparently had suffered frozen feet.
Russian reinforcements were reported.

BRITISH NAVY CAPTURES TWO GERMAN SHIPS

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Two German ships, the 2,180-ton steamship Eribe, and the 215-ton trawler Sophie, were captured today by British naval units and brought to an English port.
The Eribe sailed from a Canadian port shortly before the war and later arrived in the Azores. She was reported to have left Santa Michael, the Azores, early in November.

Finns Determined Keep Independence, Premier Announces

HELSINKI, Dec. 2.—Premier Rytty in a speech broadcast to the United States today declared Finland "will not consent to barter away our independence nor our right to decide our own affairs."
The speech, read by an assistant, was the first of its kind to go out from this capital since Soviet Russia's Red army invaded the republic Thursday morning.
Rytty declared the Finns are "defending all the civilized people of the world in their great historic mission."
"In America," Rytty said in the beginning, "have never lived up to this duty for which God has chosen us."
ARE NOT AFRAID
"The experiences we are undergoing now are such that they make me hope that you will never abandon them. Our people need not be afraid from the scenes but are not afraid, because their conscience is clear."
"We, as you know, belong to the nations which most value peace."
"We are not complaining; from one standpoint, we are proud of our position. The Finnish people have dwelt for 23 centuries in their beautiful country, cleared the soil for cultivation and created a nation."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Without naming countries, President Roosevelt said in a formal statement today the government hopes United States manufacturers and exporters of airplanes, aeronautical equipment and materials would bear in mind the government's policy of condemning "unprovoked bombing" of civilians.

U.S. Feelings Against Russia Inflamed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Belief spread in Washington today that the United States government would follow up President Roosevelt's condemnation of the Soviet attack upon Finland by urging American manufacturers to refuse Russian orders for bombing planes.
The Washington Post said such a "moral embargo" against the sale of bombers to Russia had already been put into effect unofficially.
Another proposed line of action, to aid Finland by voting a moratorium on that country's debt payments to the United States, appeared today to be gaining support among members of Congress.
Senator William C. Borah, Idaho Republican, approved the idea.
Finnish sources have indicated that the $24,893 due this month would be handed over to the United States, despite reports that the Finns are hard-pressed financially.

BLOCKADE ON NAZI EXPORTS STARTS MONDAY

By HENRY T. GORRELL
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.
LONDON, Dec. 2.—The blocking of the 4,000-ton Norwegian freighter Rissa was disclosed today shortly after an announcement that a smaller British steamer was six days overdue.
The British blockade on German exports, in retaliation for unrestricted submarine warfare, goes into effect Monday, and it was expected that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would announce a general embargo of German goods in the House of Commons on Tuesday.
It was expected that the two-day secret session during the week of Dec. 19 would discuss the new embargo and questions of military supplies.

Molotov Declares Roosevelt Protest Against Bomb Warning "Pointless": Denies Air Attack

MOSCOW, Dec. 2.—Premier Vyacheslav Molotov said last night President Roosevelt's appeal in a conference with the United States ambassador, Laurence A. Currie, to refrain from air bombardment of civilians was "pointless."
Soviet planes have not carried out such bombardment and do not intend to do so, he said.
A communique distributed by Tass news agency, said Molotov delivered the Soviet reply to the president's appeal in a conference with the United States ambassador, Laurence A. Currie, to refrain from air bombardment of civilians was "pointless."
Soviet planes have not carried out such bombardment and do not intend to do so, he said.
"Certainly, one may fail to see this from America, which is over eight thousand kilometers distant from the Soviet Union," Molotov said.
"Soviet airplanes have not bombed towns and are not going to do so, but they bombed airplanes, because our government values the interests of the Finnish population no less than any other government does."

By GERRY ROCHAUD
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Soviet Russia's blunt refusal to President Roosevelt's appeal against bombing of civilian centers strained further today already tense American-Soviet relations. Officials in Washington read in silence the text of the communique issued through the Soviet official news agency, which termed the president's appeal "pointless."

Some state department officials had anticipated some such official slap at the president.
Fulfillment of this expectation—the declaration that in place were not bombing towns in Finland—and official confirmation that the Soviet government proposes to support the Lefist "Red" regime set up on the Soviet-Finnish border as a government of Finland, were developments expected to bring Soviet-American diplomatic relations almost if not quite to the breaking point.
The White House and the state department have been under some pressure from both public and congressional sources for several days to sever diplomatic relations with President and Secretary of State Cordell Hull have resisted this pressure and have declined to indicate the U.S. government's probable course of action pending arrival of official dispatches from abroad.

NOT FORGOTTEN FUND IN NEED OF DONATIONS

Many here victims of the Great War are still living on their little white coats, in the military ward of the University hospital, still suffering from wounds and shrapnel received in action. For more than 21 years they have been paying with their health for having served their King and Country when the need was greatest. It is to help these gallant lads have a Happy New Year that The Bulletin more more has opened its columns to receive subscriptions to The Not Forgotten Fund.

The Great Canadian Party has arranged a concert for the Empire theatre next Friday, Dec. 8, and by attending this concert and also a worthy effort.

Russian Legation In Copenhagen Stoned By Angry Crowd

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.
COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 2.—Scandinavian anger against the Russian invasion of Finland exploded today in street demonstrations here, a crowd stoned the Russian legation, smashing windows.

At Stockholm, Sweden, police were called to break up a mob of thousands surrounding the office of the Communist newspaper, "New Day."

The outbreak started when a Communist speaker shouted, "Long live Stalin!" at a crowd that had marched to the Finnish legation to cheer the Finnish charge d'affaires and sing the national anthems of the two countries.

Premier Per Albin Hansson of Sweden made a public speech in Stockholm saying, "The Swedish people feel the deepest sympathy for the people of Finland. We all hope there exists a means to limit the disaster. Grounds for that hope are the brave composition of the Finnish people."

At Reykjavik, Iceland, Denmark, crowds went out a national holiday yesterday to gather in front of the Finnish consulate and cheer and sing the Finnish anthem.

The Army Huts Fund

Next week the Knights of Columbus will appeal to Edmonton people for contributions to a fund to establish Canadian Army Huts, of the type maintained by this organization during the world war. The appeal should draw a generous response, for the cause is excellent, the services rendered by the Huts in the former war are well known, and the administration of the whole undertaking was carried through splendidly.

The Huts will be of course be conducted again on strictly uncommercial lines. Every man in a soldier's uniform will be welcome. And the comforts, running all the way from rest rooms to chocolate bars, soft drinks, cigarettes, etc., will be free. The idea, as in the former war, is to provide centres where Canadian soldiers may gather in off hours, and find welcome and refreshment without charge.

How many Huts will be established, and where, will depend on the contributions. At points where troops embark for overseas, where they will land, and in the areas in which they will be engaged, the Huts will be located, their number depending on the need and the funds made available by voluntary contributions.

What a Life

From Berne, Switzerland, comes this sidelight on life in Nazi land, which will be particularly interesting to Canadian farmers:

"Fortilities in seven acts must be carried out by German farmers before they can use meat from their own pigs. German newspapers reaching here revealed:

1. The farmer must prove that the animal was fed and raised on his farm for at least three months.

2. He must apply in writing to the local mayor for a permit to kill the pig.

3. A slaughter-house inspector must then examine the pig.

4. If all is in order, the farmer must pay a slaughtering tax in advance.

5. After the animal is killed, the owner must send his permit back to the mayor.

6. An inspector will then appear and weigh the meat.

7. The farmer may now use the meat and fat from his pig, but must turn over to the authorities ration card coupons for meat and fat representing 90 per cent of the weight of the animal.

War-time regulations in Germany are in no degree, a moderate degree, more complicated and severe than the Nazi code of peace-time existence.

What the German farmer must do before he can collect the eggs and milk the cows in the evening it would be interesting to know.

Real "Public" Financing

Mr John Simon thinks the person of small means has a chance to invest in Government war loans. He is offering to sell savings certificates at one purchaser. Above defence bonds in units of $5, bearing 3 per cent. interest, not more than $1,000 worth to one buyer. The most anyone can invest in savings certificates is a sum in the neighborhood of $1,700, and in defence bonds about $5,000.

The idea of course is to distribute the securities as widely as possible, giving those who have only limited means an opportunity to make their money fight. As a further inducement, the savings certificates will be exempt from income taxation. There is no limit to the number of savings certificates and defence bonds which may be sold. If enough buyers apply for the securities, the government will be able to raise the money required for war purposes without the need of the "over the counter" sales.

Canada should try out a similar method of borrowing when borrowing is necessary. In war-time and peace-time. Not enough Canadians hold Government securities; we leave it to the big corporations to buy Government bonds. One result is that the money on the street is deprived of an inducement to save. And when after a while taxes are levied to pay the war debt, a multitude of British investors will get interest on their savings certificates and defence bonds to offset what they have to pay. In effect they will be paying to themselves.

Will It Stay "Local"?

The comfortable assumption that our disagreement with Herr Hitler is a localized affair in the military sense, and unlikely to spread into the wider or perhaps general European conflagration, is sharply challenged by the Soviet attack on Finland.

It was only when the Allies and Germany were deadlocked Moscow suddenly discovered that three million peaceable Finns living next door were a standing threat to the safety of the Soviet Union and must be crushed. Under other circumstances neither Germany nor its opponents would have stood for the outrage. Stalin saw his chance and took it; neither the Allies nor Germany can spare men and money to stop the butchery of a people with whom both have been on the best of terms.

This war situation which made an attack on Finland fairly safe, offers the Soviet chief the opportunity to carry his drive for mastery of the Baltic area and the Scandinavian peninsula as far as he pleases without outside interference. It likewise gives him as favorable a chance as he is likely to get to launch a drive against Rumania, with control of the Dardanelles as the ultimate objective.

Perhaps Stalin will content himself with the Finnish spoils, and, for whatever reason, refrain from starting trouble in the Balkans. But Hitler has obligingly provided him with a Siegfried line behind which he can pursue his conquering way without hindrance. Germany or the Allies, either of whom would in other circumstances be bound to bar his path.

The sudden assault on Finland carries an unpleasant and very pointed suggestion that this "local" war along the Rhine may spread indefinitely.

Premier Daladier effectively disposed of the Nazi canon, echoes of which have reached this continent, that the "English" have been leaving it to the French to do most of the fighting. He said, "It is sufficient to note that at the present time sufficient losses of men are higher than those of the French army." That is a chivalrous tribute to the fidelity of an ally, no less chivalrous because true.

Observers at London infer that Hitler and Stalin made a bargain by which Russia is to gobble up Finland economically if not politically, and leave "the rest of Scandinavia" to Germany. That is likely enough. But Adolf, knowing Joseph, isn't trusting that the bargain will stick. He has been sowing mines in Swedish waters, just in case any Soviet warships wander into his preserves.

The Passing Show

By MAX FREEDMAN

If Stalin is plotting a world revolution, he could have chosen no better country to attack than Finland. Since Finland's frontiers touch Norway and Sweden as well as the Soviet, she has long been a buffer state between Russia and the Scandinavian countries. The security of these two countries is threatened, if Finland is brought to its knees by Russia.

WHAT DOES STALIN MEAN? brought to its knees by Russia. The northern countries tried to protect themselves against the artificial policies of Stalin and Molotov. They backed Finland's request to the League of Nations to fortify the Aaland Islands which guard one of the main routes down which the commerce of Sweden and Norway is borne. Russia protested against this project, and blocked the League's efforts to strengthen Finland.

It is significant that one of the demands Molotov made upon Finland is that these islands be fortified—built by Russia, and no one else. Obviously, such action, far from spelling greater security for the future, would really bring the menace of aggression closer home, since Russia could use those islands and Finland proper as a base for further attack.

It is important to remember, as the primary fact governing all Russian policy, that Stalin has always believed in the doctrine of world revolution, the ultimate aim of the Soviet. He quarreled with Trotsky not because he was opposed to this theory but because he thought the time was not ripe for its execution in practice. The Soviet revolution was to be a world revolution, not a mere quarrel about tactics, but about theories. As Professor Laakki has said, the conflict sprang from a disagreement "about the pace with which the world revolution was to be carried out, not about its desirability as an ultimate end." Fifteen years ago Stalin thought Russia was not strong enough to sow the seeds of a social upheaval to the world, the capitalist world. He may have changed his mind now.

But it is advisable to keep a sense of proportion about Russia and its aims. It is the danger of our fears blind our judgment. It is the danger of our English historians that Stalin has not yet arrived at that momentous decision.

They say there is a vast difference between Stalin's policy of imperialism, which drives Russia to crush tiny states on its border, and a planned policy leading to a new Russia. Stalin simply is taking what booty he can get while the rest of Europe is too busy to stop him. Later, he may begin to worry about going on the offensive for Communism, though there are as yet no signs that Stalin is being impelled by anything but a crude lust for power.

It is this support that has enabled Stalin to push the demands advanced by both Stalin and Molotov that the war between the great powers immediately cease. That is not necessarily a bluff, it may be Russia's genuine self-interest to have the conflict end now. After all, why should Russia want the war to go on? She already has obtained a huge amount of loot and the war may be a long-drawn-out process, which will face her in a long-drawn-out war, especially as suspicion of her motives is now widespread and so justified.

At the root of Communist policy lies a vast myth—that the activities of the Comintern are separate and distinct from the official program of the Communist government. The Comintern is a separate organization, the only link between Russian diplomacy and the International. The only link between Russian diplomacy and the International was to be found in the central committee of the Communist Party, an organization which was dissolved in 1924. The Comintern is a separate organization, the only link between Russian diplomacy and the International was to be found in the central committee of the Communist Party, an organization which was dissolved in 1924. The Comintern is a separate organization, the only link between Russian diplomacy and the International was to be found in the central committee of the Communist Party, an organization which was dissolved in 1924.

The Communist International expected a four-year period of revolution in the world dating from March, 1917, to March, 1921. But when this period of upheaval failed to materialize, Lenin admitted that the revolution was not a world revolution. Stalin, who is not even mentioned in the first ten volumes of Lenin's collected works, still believed as late as 1924, that the Communist revolution in other countries if it is not to collapse in Russia. He changed his mind in December in order to maintain his political supremacy with the support of Bukharin against the charges of Zinoviev and Kamenev, who both disagreed with Stalin's belated conversion to the idea of Communism in a single country.

The record shows that Stalin believed in world revolution long after Lenin gave it up as a vain chimera, so far as practical politics were concerned. He has been creating a myth of tactical purposes when his party position was threatened. The prolonged series of domestic disorders in Russia which have recently taken place may have created another crisis in the Communist party which drives Stalin to his present conduct.

Through the National Construction Council, Canada's building industries have placed themselves at the disposal of the Dominion Government with a plan intended to expedite emergency construction which the war will inevitably entail. Since the Council represents virtually every phase of construction enterprise in the country, an voluntary effort will no doubt receive from the Government the attention it deserves.—OTTAWA JOURNAL.

Gallant Rawalpindi

Word of the sinking of the armed merchant cruiser cast gloom on Sunday, but the later story told of the heroic fight put up by her captain and crew thrilled readers on Monday. She lost in the battle, but losing, showed the old Nelson touch. The account is that of engaging men who sail in British ships today, but it rings with the same old heroism, the gallant courage of British sailors who have gone to sea since their oaken hulls first sailed from British ports.

The Rawalpindi was far off her P and O course, and was making way southeast of Iceland. There she was attacked. The German pocket-battleship, the Deutschland, came up to port and another enemy ship closed in to starboard. The Rawalpindi did not have a chance. But when signalled to stop, she opened fire with her four starboard guns.

The Rawalpindi fought on while the Deutschland poured into her four salvos of everything she had to fire. The other enemy ship was firing into the Rawalpindi at the same time. The Rawalpindi did not have a chance at any stage of the battle. Then, when ablaze, the other three boats not shattered by shellfire were lowered. One boat was taken ashore, but the other two survived the few of the crew of the Rawalpindi who could tell the story of how 283 men of the British mercantile marine died bravely to resist capture.

These men fought on when death was certain. They fought with the courage of old. They fought as British sailors have done for centuries. That is the spirit and the courage of the British are the spirit of old and courage that has always been British. They are dead, but their gallantry will be told as now they no longer live to hear.

Their courage is not dead; their people are not decadent. The Nazis thought they were. They said British people were done for, because they had neither spirit nor vigor. They said the British would not fight, but could not stand the strain of modern warfare. They said peace, but now, at war, the British fight—their fight is the crew of the Rawalpindi. Those gallant sailors went down with their ship. Their heroism will live on. The story of the world that the British people can and will do when driven to fight aggression and defend their freedom. They fight to the death.—WINNIPEG FREE PRESS.

Seventy years ago, on December 2, 1869, Hon. William McDougall, who had been named lieutenant-governor of the Northwest Territories, had gone via Chicago, with the intention of proceeding to Fort Garry, but who was stopped by half-breeds on orders from Louis Riel, issued a proclamation to the effect that the Queen's name calling upon them to manifest their loyalty. Unfortunately, for him, the transfer of Rupert's Land to the Dominion had been completed and the title of "Honorable" was still the ruling power.

Riel had already taken possession of Fort Garry, and declared his revolution. The governing body that he named himself president, and the half-breeds who opposed the transfer, because they thought the Canadians were going to steal their lands, paid no attention to McDougall's proclamation. He found himself in a difficult situation; there was no telegraph to Ottawa; he had to wait at Pembina for instructions; and meanwhile Riel made himself "master of the Red River." When the instructions did come, McDougall was ordered to return to Ottawa. Donald A. Smith, then lieutenant-governor, was sent up as a special commissioner; he was backed by prominent French-Canadians in the East and by Bishop Tache, but McDougall had, to his regret, no authority to make any kind of an amicable settlement with these wild people. Donald Smith was a prisoner of Riel; and in the end a military expedition had to be sent to the following summer to restore the Queen's authority. Thereafter, thanks largely to Donald Smith, the terms of transfer were completed, peace was restored, and the Province of Manitoba came into existence as the child of the new Dominion.

SPECTATORS IN PERIL.
This world-view of religion in which we find ourselves involved is not a public entertainment. Still, there are large groups of persons who devote to it the interest which others give to sport and professional action. The most striking example of satisfaction in surveying the horrors of war, and the problems of diplomacy.

This spectator state of mind is perilous. It is emotion, without corresponding action. It breeds calmed hearts, which can survey human tragedy as if they were a stage show, turning grim reality into theatrical drama. Interest without corresponding action, atrophies the faculties. Every sensitive spirit should be plunged into the fellowship of suffering by what is going on in the world today. It is the time when the world, and should be sincere sharers of its sorrow. The present crisis should drive us into the depths of prayer and service and sympathy; remembering the sorrow of God over the sins of His children.

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

When many people eat pork, I find that they do not derive the fullest enjoyment from it, as they have a slight feeling of guilt at eating something they have heard is not good for them. Pork is a wholesome protein and may well be used by those in average good health, who are possessed of strong digestive systems.

In your own case, if you know from experience you are able to eat pork and digest it perfectly, then I suggest you go ahead and use it. While eating it, enjoy the flavor to the full.

The only possible objection to well-cooked pork comes from the fact that even the so-called lean pork is so much fatter than other meats, there is an excess of fat in pork which is coated with fat, and the digestive juices then have a harder time in attacking these protein particles. For this reason, a person with a faulty digestion may find it advisable to stay away from pork, at least temporarily, until such time as his digestive system has improved sufficiently to take care of it.

However, the individual with a good digestion will find pork to be a wholesome and satisfying food. It is a very welcome change from other meats.

Pork is a very popular meat and is consumed in large quantities. It is the staple of many homes. It is a very welcome change from other meats.

This is the eleventh of a series of 18 articles on the Vanderbilt Club Connection.

The opening bid of two no trump is the same as of general characteristics as the opening bid of one no trump, with the exception that it shows no actual stoppers in every suit. Instead of the potential stopper required for the one no trump, it shows a five-card major, an opening bid of one or two no trump opening should not be made unless the bidder has a probable double stopper in every suit, but some-thing to make three or four trumps.

Another type of strong hand which on opening bids two no trump is advised is one which contains length in three, for example, spades, A K K 8, clubs, Q J Q 4, diamonds, K Q K 8, hearts, K J 10. This hand contains 49 quick tricks, 12 of the 20 honor cards in the deck. It should be made two no trump, as it would then stand to three no trump which would not warrant an assist from the partner.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

Unique partnership has been formed by two leading city organizations for the raising of funds with which to assist deserving war-time community endeavors. The partnership is the Edmonton Civic Opera Society and the Rotary Club, which organizations will combine to present Blossom Time at the Empire theatre in March. This enterprise, with a story based on a incident in the life of Franz Schubert—incidentally with music adapted from Schubert's works by Sigfried Rumberg will be presented at the Empire on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 3, 4, 5 and 6 with a matinee on the last day.

This partnership, for the present, is for one production. The Civic Opera Society had decided to present Blossom Time in March. The Rotary Club, famed in the past for the excellence of its minstrel shows, was fitting with the idea of putting on another. Then someone conceived the idea of linking up with the Civic Opera Society. The Rotary contacted the Civic Opera Society and a conference was arranged.

In the result the two organizations will go in it together. The Opera Society will be responsible for the production and the Rotary Club will take care of profits for donating to deserving community war time efforts. As both organizations plan to put their best foot forward in assisting community efforts, it was decided to put Blossom Time on for four nights. The popularity of the work, with its enduring music and the strong business organization backing it up will insure crowded houses for this four day period, it is felt by these in charge.

In the meantime, Mrs. J. R. Carmichael, general music director of the Civic Opera Society is busy with rehearsals and reports the first act well advanced. Rehearsals are in full swing and a strong cast is being picked.

The Sunday evening music hour, commencing at 7:30 o'clock at the University of Alberta broadcasting studio, but not to be put on the air, will be devoted to a recorded performance of Ruggero Leoncavallo's one act opera Pagliacci. Principals, together with chorus and orchestra are the famous La Scala opera. The orchestra for the recording is under Franco Glionni, now conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the chorus master is Vittorio Venturi. The cast is: Vito Puccini, soprano as Nedda; Bernardino Gagliardi, as Canio; Maria, Baritone as Tonio; Giuseppe, Bass as Peppino and Lina, Bass, baritone, as Silvio.

Mrs. Ernest Meaden, president of the Women's Musical Club and manager of the club's celebrated series of concerts, reports widespread interest in the appearance here, at the Empire theatre next Thursday, of Argentinia and her Spanish Dancing ensemble. Famed on both sides of the Atlantic, this group of five artists promises to be an outstanding attraction. The intriguing rhythms of the Spanish music will be one of the features of the performance.

Next regular meeting of the Women's Musical Club—after that of the date—will be on Saturday, Jan. 21, when the guest recital will be held.

SOLDIERS ARE ELIGIBLE FOR CIVIL SERVICE

OTTAWA, Dec. 2.—Persons called out or enlisting for military service may apply to the Civil Service Commission for appointment at any time within six months after demobilization and be considered as eligible as at the date of military enrollment. This amendment to the civil service regulations was published last night in The Canada Gazette. The only provision is that the conduct in the force of the person in question must not have been such as to make him unworthy of consideration.

GENEVA SATIRE KEPT ABREAST OF DAYS NEWS

George Bernard Shaw's "Geneva," satirical study on the League of Nations, has been entirely revised and brought up to date by the playwright to include the declaration of war on Hitlerism and the subsequent European complications arising from Soviet Russia's intervention. The Colbourne-Jones presentation of the new revised script will be presented at the Empire theatre during the three days commencing Monday, Dec. 4.

Shaw promises to keep the play a progressive step two documentary on European matters until peace returns in other words, "Geneva" will continue to be revised and brought up to date throughout the duration of hostilities or the duration of Mr. Shaw.

"Geneva" was first presented at the Mollers festival in 1938 and was later in the same year moved to the Saville and St. James theatres, London, where it enjoyed a seven months' run.

Berry Jones plays the Judge while Maurice Colbourne assumes the difficult role of Batten, the pro-type of Hitler. Norah Howard will be seen as Regina Brown and Ernest Brown will be seen as Bombardier.

"Geneva" is conceded by London critics to be a Shaw satire at the British dramatist's illuminated best and promises to be high entertainment for Edmonton theatre-goers.

Ten Canadian Rhodes Scholars To Be Selected

TORONTO, Dec. 2.—Under special wartime regulations, 10 Canadian Rhodes scholars will be selected in January, 1940. It was announced Friday by Dr. R. McInnes, general secretary for Canada of the Rhodes scholarship trust.

Selection of Rhodes scholars was temporarily suspended last September because of the war, but it has been decided that the usual appointments will be made—two each in Ontario and Quebec and one each in Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan.

Except in special cases, all scholarships to which elections are made in wartime will be suspended until after the war. Scholarship-wielders destined to go to Oxford during the war may be given special permission.

Medical students and researchers are among those most likely to be given permission.

Central Council UOW Planned By Five H.I.Y. Clubs

Boy Scouts in Edmonton have taken on a real task this fall and winter—that of supplying toys for needy children in Edmonton and district. In past years the Scouts have stepped into the breach and tried to supply toys, city and country needs.

But it is a big task—a gigantic task! Scouts and Cubs have been working in their toy shops five nights a week since the middle of November repairing and painting broken and discarded toys. Other troops and packs have been busy collecting toys. But this collecting of toys is a mighty job. The Scouts are doing a great job, but a little help would lessen the burden considerably.

Every youth organization in the city should get behind the Scouts and do their bit to give needy children a Merry Christmas. C.G.I.T., Tuxis and Young People's groups could hold socials and charge admission in the form of broken and discarded toys. These could be turned over to the Scouts for repair. Some of the Tuxis groups could even do a little repair work themselves. Ready now. Let's have together!

MYSTERY OF THE STOLEN JEWELS

Here's what happened in last week's installment of Elia McCarty's serial story: The "Black Snakes" are someone around Mrs. Holmes' house and find that it is Mrs. Holmes. On returning to the school, they find Mrs. Holmes there. They are mystified as to the manner in which Mrs. Holmes managed to get back so quickly.

Laird that night there was a loud scream that made everyone run to Miss Johnson's office. "My jewels have been stolen," cried Mrs. Morris. "I know it was one of you girls who took them away from the staff for that matter. Someone must have gotten in here while we were asleep. I should never have taken them with me."

For an instant there was perfect silence, then the room seemed to buzz with conversation. "Wait a moment, wait a moment, please," said Mrs. Morris. "I will immediately search in the morning. Each of you girls must come to my office and tell where and what you were doing while Mrs. Morris was gone."

The next morning everyone was questioned. Every girl that was slightly suspected had been taken down although she didn't know it.

Kitty Far and Jean Davis had been around at the time. They did not do anything, but said they had nothing to do with the robbery.

A lot of the girls believed them. But the girls who were taking Jean and Kitty very closely.

Howling Blizzards, Driving Rain Fall Stop Three Girls From Attending Sunday School

Three young ladies at Christ Church are believed to have lost something of a record for Edmonton and possibly a new record for the area. The three, Gladys and Margaret Higgins and Jean Kelly, have a perfect attendance record at the Christ Church Sunday school for the past 19 years. Rain or shine, freezing cold or burning heat, the young ladies have slipped away at Sunday school each week.

Jack Higgins, brother of Margaret and Gladys, has been recorded for six years, while Dilly Higgins and Mary Helen Higgins have perfect records over a seven year stretch and Helen Willette is one year better.

Last Sunday all youngsters with perfect attendance marks were awarded certificates. About 45 youngsters and Guides and 60 Cubs and Scouts took part in a colorful parade. Certificates and prizes were presented by D. W. F. Henderson. Following is the complete list of those with perfect attendance marks:

21-Year-Old Emma Maines Makes Success Of Hobby

Artist's Miss Emma Maines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Maines, of 9232 34 street, whose drawings and water colors have already won her considerable recognition among art circles throughout the city.

Miss Maines draws and paints only as a hobby and except for art lessons taken at high school, and in the summer months. Yet her work shows a freedom of movement and a life-like quality that has won many admiring glances from those who have seen her work.

But it is in color work that Miss Maines has won the greatest recognition. She has a natural "eye" for properly harmonizing colors in her paintings and she is able to reproduce with amazing accuracy the delicate tones and shades of flowers, sky, shrubs and other objects in her drawings.

A few weeks ago, Miss Maines began taking photographs under the direction of Mrs. Florence Mortimer, head of the Mortimer Art School, and already her work has been exceptionally fine work. Outside of instructions received in city high and high schools, there are the first art instructions that she has taken.

NATURAL TALENT Miss Maines also shows a natural talent for dreaming and design, many of her own costumes. She has also done considerable fashion work.

Miss Maines has won several trophies at the Edmonton Exhibition with both her paintings and fancy work. She also possesses several awards won at the Edmonton Boys' and Girls' Fair.

The young artist is just 21 years old. She was born in Edmonton and attended Bennett public and Technical high school. She is a clerk in one of the city's large departmental stores. At present she has no intention of taking up art work seriously. It is just a hobby that she enjoys.

Shown above is a reproduction of one of Emma Maines' pictures. The freedom of movement and life-like quality in this original picture, the use of water colors in the reproduction with amazing accuracy, the delicate shades of the flowers and the markings of the swallow, is the talented young lady herself.

Playing for the seniors is Beryl Westbrook, Margaret Plett, Phoebe Kell, Colla Flett, Barbara Beckett, Betty Grieson and Joan McArthur. Mr. Henderson is coaching both teams.

Final arrangements for the "Igloo Caper Dance" have been made. Several novelty dances are planned to assure the dancers of a specially good time. All union members are selling tickets to get points and patronage. Patrons and patronesses are: Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Page, Mr. and Mrs. C. Garfield, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hollingsworth.

Shows above, from left to right, are Gladys Higgins, Jean Kelly and Margaret Higgins, who have completed one of the finest "perfect attendance" records for Sunday school in the province. Members of the Christ Church Sunday school, the three girls have never missed a Sunday in the last 19 years. They all claim it will take more than a snow-bone to stop them from breaking their attendance streak.

BOY SCOUTS ARE NOW AT WORK IN YULE TOY SHOP

Scout activity for the coming month will be speeded into high gear as the annual yuletoy gets into full swing and the usual troop concerts open during the Christmas weeks. Many more volunteers or dis- tuted toys are needed in order to care for the needs of the children. It is provided with Christmas presents and everyone is asked to make achieve contributions of any material is at his disposal.

A special toy machine has been arranged with the cooperation of Manager Walter Wilson and his Captain (the staff for next Saturday morning, Dec. 3, Boys and girls will be admitted to the Yuletoy open house, and it is hoped that from this machine the toys they will be able to take care of where all calls may be taken care of.

One of the most successful Sixer conferences ever to be held in the Edmonton district was the final session last Saturday night with all reports with an excellent attendance of over 75 local Boys. The prize for the best Sixer of the conference was awarded to the "Silver Six" led by Sixer Don Patrick of the 2nd Pack. All those completing the school were presented with certificates in recognition of their outstanding status.

Twenty-one city Packs were represented at the rally and Campers from every club gave their assistance to the chief supervisor, W. P. Wilson, and the Old Wolf Council. Among the many lectures given at the conference were talks by W. A. Bailey, H. J. Laidlaw, G. Taylor and C. Duke.

On completion of his high school course, Bruce intends to enter the University of Alberta for medicine.

WESTLOCK YOUTH TAKES BISSEL ORATORICAL CUP

Warren Smith, representative of the Westlock Youth People's Society, won the Bissel Memorial Oratorical Cup at the annual oratorical contest of the Westlock Youth People's Society, held at the Westlock Hotel, Tuesday. The cup was presented to Roy Lawson, president of the Westlock Youth People's Society, by Mr. Stephen. Bishops Seeking Quiet Confidence

Deploping the war, Bishops of the Church of England in Canada on Saturday issued a message to the people of the dominion to be of good cheer, declaring that "God reigns in quietness and confidence." The bishops of the Anglican Diocese of Edmonton released the following statement in behalf of the bishops.

We the bishops of the Church of England in Canada, deploping the outbreak of hostilities and realizing to the full the horrors of war yet feel that a situation has arisen in Europe which threatens the very existence of the liberty and freedom of nations.

We believe it is the bounden duty of us of the church to deplore the crimes that have arisen, to deplore the suffering and to deplore the loss of life and limb.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ARNOLD BENTHESIONE—The peevish, spoiled big dog.
HELEN BENTHESIONE—His charming, beautiful wife.
WILLIAM ALSTON—Benthesione's father-in-law and business associate.
JOHN DE TIGER—Nick club owner and gangster.
JOHN JOHNSON—The mystery girl.
JOHN DOUGLAS—A young mining engineer in love with Arnie.
CAPTAIN DAWSON—A detective who likes to listen.

Yesterday's Arnie tells how a John Douglas, married her mother, died before Arnie was born. The mother was having Arnie and another dog when which may help her find her father. He is a detective in New York, and he is a detective in New York, and he is a detective in New York. She has a dog, and she is a detective in New York. John Douglas, a detective in New York, discovers his father.

Douglas, but did agree to an interview with Arnie after she had mentioned her mother's name. He was a few personal matters known only to her mother, and father.

It was the smuggled fingerprint on the letter that drove Benthesione to deny Arnie's father's presence when she confronted him with that irrefutable proof. He felt finally and that he was her father.

Then he made all sorts of promises. I suddenly got away from come back. He had no more love for me than for my mother. His only personal opinion of me was that I might be endangered, that a scandal might hurt his business. He was not a detective, but he was as quick as and as painlessly as possible.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—The Bull Record Publishing Company, publisher of a racing information sheet, lost its federal court fight with the U. S. Justice Dept. today. The company and 13 other defendants whom the Record company charged had conspired to monopolize the dissemination of racing information were ordered to pay $100,000 in damages to the government.

Monks Captains

EXETER, Eng., Dec. 2.—Monks of Buckfast Abbey hunched up their black habits for duration of the war. Serving army chaplains the forces at front, they wear uniform and are captains.

Lawson directed his next question to Douglas.

"Did it occur to you, Douglas, that this girl might have wanted to have you discovered in the house... to cover up a murder she intended to commit?"

SCOUTS ALWAYS GET THEIR MAN LIKE R. C. M. P.

Like the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Boy Scouts always get their man. This week an elderly, crippled resident of Lloydminster wandered away from his home and when he failed to return several hours later, his anxious relatives called upon Const. F. Hallett of Lloydminster to aid in finding him.

The constable searched until the light began to fall, then he put in a call for the Boy Scouts. The Scouts quickly organized a large searching party and began combing the district systematically. In less than half an hour they found the missing man and returned him to his anxious relatives.

The Constituency Convention of the Hand Hills Social Credit group was held in the Memorial Hall, Hays, on Wednesday. There was almost a full turn-out of delegates from all parts of the constituency. The officers for the coming year elected were: A. L. Harvey, president; J. King, vice-president; W. Simpson, secretary-treasurer. Delegates appointed to the provincial convention to be held in Edmonton were: Harry K. Fielding, A. L. Harvey, S. Brooks. In the evening, before a house of about 300 people, Hon. Dr. Cross and Hon. Solon Low addressed the meeting.

The Canmore Indian Eastern Star lodge sponsored a very successful bridge party Wednesday night. Winner in the ladies' high score was Miss Margaret Keltner, while Mr. Russell Bower carried off the low score prize. For the gentlemen, first prize went to Mr. Ed. Meraw and Mr. Albert Webb carried off the low score prize.

S. Westwick of New Norway, which is 17 miles south of Canmore, is busy loading a car of live poultry at the C.P.R. yards.

cent carnival amounted to one hundred and thirty-seven dollars. A card party will also add to this fund. A course in rug making will be taken up after the holidays. Remembrances are being sent to six members in the form of small gifts. Meeting concluded with a jolly game of bingo at which Mrs. Percival was successful in winning the prize.

CLEARVIEW
The lives and works of favorite authors and musicians reviewed by Mrs. James Bower, of Red Deer, made an interesting program and Mrs. W. MacFarlane, constituency convenor, was present and spoke on the work of the women's institutes.

GLENDON
Everyone enjoyed a talk on W.I. work given by Mrs. Munro at a recent meeting and the names of Miss K. Johnston and Miss Helen Lesjak were added to the roll of members.

KITSOTY
First aid kit will be purchased for the junior room of the school and financial assistance will be given to a child in need of reading glasses. Tickets will be sold on a Christmas card.

HIGH PRAIRIE
Paper services will be purchased for children carrying their lunches to school. Members will take a course in How to Buy. Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Butler were appointed to co-operate with the section in forming a branch of the Red Cross.

THORHILD
Annual bazaar will take place at the home of Mrs. Holmes on December 12. Mrs. Nelson will convene the table and the hostess will convene luncheon arrangements. Work will also be commenced for the Red Cross and a series of card parties will furnish entertainment during the winter months. Mrs. Jardy will have charge of these arrangements and Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Nelson will be in charge of refreshments. Miss Vera Walker spoke briefly on W.I. work.

LOUGHDEE
The institute will endeavor to take charge of Red Cross work in the district and at a meeting, Mrs. J. Beeve read an interesting paper on the success and failure of different groups of immigrants to Canada through the years.

BURNBY
Mrs. S. P. O'Brien, a former public health nurse, will have charge of a course in home nursing sponsored by the Red Cross. Apples and liver oil have been purchased for a needy family. Members will take a course in rug making soon.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN
Highlights of W.I. activities were given by the president, Mrs. Harry Hagan, and Mrs. W. A. Joinskie read an article by the former Miss Louisa Dempsey, entitled, "What Can We Do?" Mrs. Lorena Ritchie contributed two vocal solos. Miss Rita Sherman acted as her accompanist.

MULHURST
A quilt is being made and when completed will be sold, and the proceeds added to W.I. funds. Mrs. L. Gagnier was received a new member.

In The United States Of America: Steel Booming, Ships Rusting

IN AMERICA, SINCE THE WAR

Here is what has happened in some major business fields since the European war began. In studying the map and chart, remember the economists agree there has been a sharp upturn in the United States since the guns started booming—but that they do not agree it was because the guns started booming.

The war has piled up orders in the airplane industry—no doubt about that. And it has had at least an indirect effect on the steel industry, where November production was 93 per cent of capacity as against 62 per cent in August, though armament buying was only a minor factor. But experts point out there has been little increase in

Vegreville Branch Of Red Cross Has Passed $1,000 Mark

Considered to be among the best organized branches in the Alberta section of the Canadian Red Cross Society, the Vegreville branch, according to M. C. Watts, secretary, has to date a paid in membership of 530, an enrollment of 340 serving members and five auxiliary branches in the surrounding district. The $1,000 mark, as for the branch, was reached with little difficulty.

Mrs. F. E. Martin has been appointed convenor of the women's work committee with Mrs. M. C. Watts, assistant convenor, and Mrs. H. G. Alexander, committee secretary. A stockkeeper has yet to be appointed. Supplies available have been unable to fill the demands of the workers.

Farmer Is Greeted With Twin Calves

W. H. (Vernon) Pound, was greeted this morning in his small farm yard to see the appearance of twin beef calves. He as usual went to do his morning chores at 7 a.m. when he noticed the new arrivals. He is very proud as they were Jersey. Both mother and calves doing well. The Pound yard was situated on the outskirts of town north has been very busy with school children and friends, viewing the twins. One of the twins has been named after its great grandmother (Stella) while its sister has been named Quency.

Thirty-five boys from Lacombe and district attended a Trail Ranger rally in the church hall, Wednesday evening, when they were addressed by George Miles of Calgary, provincial Boy Work secretary, Bessie G. Kettels and C. A. Warren of Chive and Bentley, respectively, were also present with groups of Trail Rangers from their district.

C. D. Marble, in charge of the special fund drive for the Red Cross in the town of Lacombe and the Municipality of Crown, stated at noon Friday that the sum of $1,000 had already been received at each of $45 in pledges. He expected that all collectors will have reported by the week-end.

Officials of the Lacombe Farmers' Home Sale have set March 20 as the date for the 1940 sale. Last year's big auction of houseworn goods records for the number of horses changing hands in an two-day sale and another record sale is expected next year.

On Wednesday the Fort Saskatchewan branch of the Canadian Red Cross held a very successful fund-raising dance. The dance was held in the newly constructed hall of Mrs. T. W. Moore of Fort Saskatchewan. There were over 200 persons in attendance.

Senator Asquith is reported to be the richest of Italy's 15,000 millionaires.

Congratulations, Old Man

Everybody had a ripping good time at the annual smoker of the Associated Canadian Travellers held in the Moose Temple Friday evening. More than 300 members and guests of the organization attended. Shown above is Joe Taylor, left, vice-president of the Edmonton branch, and Frank C. Holden, president. The picture was taken at the Moose Temple Friday night as they congratulated each other on the success of the smoker.

LEAPIN LIZARDS!
DID NICK GATT COME
RIGHT INTO YOUR OFFICE AND TALK TO
YOU? WEREN'T
YOU SCARED?

WHY, NO, ANNIE—
THERE WAS NOTHING TO BE AFRAID OF—

I KNOW
NICK HAS A BAD REPUTATION, BUT NO MAN CAN BE AS BAD AS
NICK'S REPUTED
TO BE—

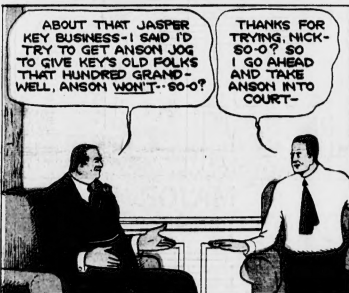

WHERE THERE'S
SMOKE, THERE'S FIRE—
YOU'VE SAID YOURSELF THAT HANGING WAS TOO GOOD FOR HIS KIND—WHAT DID HE WANT WITH YOU?

YES—I, NICK
GATT—ALONE
AND HARMLESS—
MAY I COME INTO YOUR HOUSE?

SURE—
COME ON
IN, NICK—
WHAT'S ON YOUR MIND?

HA! PAT POT'SY AND
HIS BOYS SURE HAVE YOUR HOUSE FILLED PLINY
GOOD—THEY'D HAVE SPOTTED ANYBODY BUT OLD NICK—

AND ACCUSE HIM OF HAVING YOUNG KEY KILLED—TRY TO PROVE MY BOYS DID IT—TRY
TO TIE ME UP WITH THE
JOB—YOU'D BUCK MY JUDGE—
MY MACHINE—YOU KNOW YOU'D LOSE—YET STILL—?

STILL I'M GOING THROUGH WITH IT, NICK—
NO—NO,
JOHN—YOU'D BE KILLED!

AH! MRS. TECUM—AND THIS
IS LITTLE ANNE. EH? NO—
PERHAPS I, NICK GATT, AM
NOT SUCH AN OGRE AS YOU
THINK—I LIKE BRAVERY—
HONESTY—BRAINS—SO I
LIKE THIS MAN—

BUT YOUR MEN HAVE BEEN TRYING TO GET AT US—TO MAIM OR KILL US—

GEE! BIG AS HE IS, HE JUST WALKED INTO THOSE BUSHES—AND VANISHED!

OH, JOHN!
THAT MAN IS DANGEROUS!
HOW COULD YOU SIT AND
TALK TO HIM
SO CALMLY?

OH, I'M NOT
SO SURE
NICK IS AS
ALL BAD
AS HE'S CRACKED UP
TO BE—

ALL RIGHT, BOYS—IT'S AGREED—
NICK GATT HAS GOT TO GO—AND
I'M TO TAKE OVER THE, AH,
FACTORY'S POLICY, EVERYTHING, EH?
GOOD! NICK WILL BE AT HIS PLACE
IN HALF AN HOUR—YOU KNOW
WHAT TO DO, EH?

RIGHT,
CHIEF—
LEAVE IT
TO US,
CHIEF—

Maw Green

E-E-EH?
HOW MUCH
DIDJA
SAY?

I SAID ONE
FOR THREE DOLLARS—
TWO FOR FOIVE!

OH! TWENTY-FIVE HA! HA!
THAT'S MORE LIKE IT—
THOUGHT Y' SAID
THIRTY-FIVE TH'
FUST TIME—

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

MAN, THE GREAT FIXER!

COPY, 1939 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T.M. REG. U.S. & PAT. OFF.

HE IMPORTED STARLINGS FROM THE OLD WORLD... AND NOW WATCHES WITH INDIGNATION AND ALARM AS THEY TAKE THE HOMES OF NATIVE BIRDS.

HE KILLED OFF MOUNTAIN LIONS AND WOLVES IN MOUNTAIN AREAS... AND COMPLAINS BITTERLY WHEN DEER, THEIR COMMON PREY, EAT UP HIS CROPS.

HE PLOWED UP THE PRAIRIES... AND PLANTED SHELTER-BELTS TO STOP THE RESULTING DUST STORMS.

HE CUT DOWN THE FORESTS WHOSE ROOTS HAD HELD BACK THE RUN-OFF OF RAIN... AND THEN SPENT MILLIONS FOR FLOOD CONTROL.

HE IMPORTED SPARROWS FROM ENGLAND TO FIGHT A WORM PEST IN BROOKLYN... AND NOW AGREES THAT THEY ARE THE NATION'S NO. 1 BIRD PEST.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By Blosser

BEFORE YOU GO, I WANT YOU TO HELP ME!

BUT I'M LATE NOW, MARY!

PLEASE, MARY, I-----

IT WON'T TAKE BUT A MINUTE... I WANT TO SEE HOW IT HANGS!

I WAS TO MEET THE BOSS AT THE CLUB IN TEN MINUTES!

THIS EXTRA TIME WON'T HURT!

BUT IF I'M LATE, HE'S APT TO DRIVE OVER HERE!

STAND STILL!

GEE, POP YOU'D PANIC HIM!

MARY IF HE EVER SAW ME THIS WAY, I'D BE THE LAUGHING STOCK OF THE CLUB!

OH, NON-SENSE!

I'D BE SHAMED OUT OF TOWN. I COULDN'T LOOK ANOTHER CLUB MEMBER IN THE EYE!

WELL, CALL HIM UP THEN. TELL HIM YOU'LL BE DELAYED. THEN HE WON'T DRIVE OVER AND SEE YOU THIS WAY!

LISTEN, CHIEF, A LITTLE MATTER AT HOME WILL HOLD ME UP A FEW MINUTES. DO YOU MIND?

DON'T WORRY ABOUT IT, HENRY---I'LL BE A LITTLE LATE MYSELF!
